Excerpts from:

ULYSSES

by ALFRED LORD TENNYSON

. . . I cannot rest from travel; I will drink
Life to the lees. All times I have enjoyed
Greatly, have suffered greatly, both with those
That loved me, and alone; on shore, and when
Through scudding drifts the rainy Hydes
Vexed the dim sea. I am become a name;
For always roaming with a hungry heart
Much have I seen and known—cities of men
And manners, climates, councils, governments,
Myself not least, but honored of them all—
And drunk delight of battle with my peers.

I am a part of all that I have met;
Yet all experience is an arch wherethrough
Gleams that untraveled world whose margin fades
Forever and forever when I move.
How dull it is to pause, to make an end,
To rust unburnished, not to shine in use!
As though to breathe were life! Life piled on life
Little remains; but every hour is saved
From that eternal silence, something more,
A bringer of new things; and vile it were
For some three suns to store and hoard myself,
And this gray spirit yearning in desire
To follow knowledge like a sinking star,
Beyond the utmost bound of human thought . . .

The lights begin to twinkle from the rocks;
The long day wanes; the slow moon climbs; the deep
Moans round with many voices. Come, my friends,
'Tis not too late to seek a newer world.
Push off, and sitting well in order smite
The sounding furrows; for my purpose holds
To sail beyond the sunset, and the baths
Of all the western stars, until I die.
It may be that the gulfs will wash us down;
It may be we shall touch the Happy Isles,
And see the great Achilles, whom we knew.
Though much is taken, much abides; and though
We are not now that strength which in old days
Moved earth and heaven, that which we are, we are—
One equal temper of heroic hearts,
Made weak by time and fate, but strong in will
To strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield.

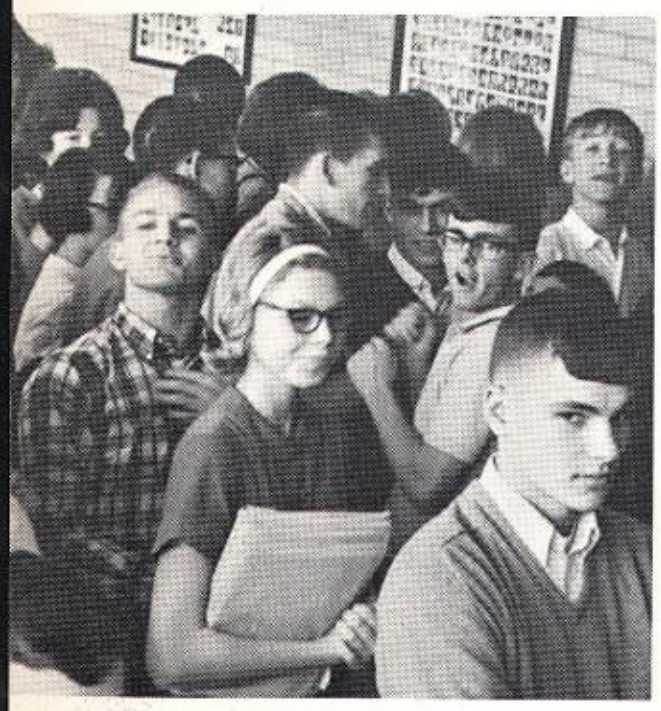
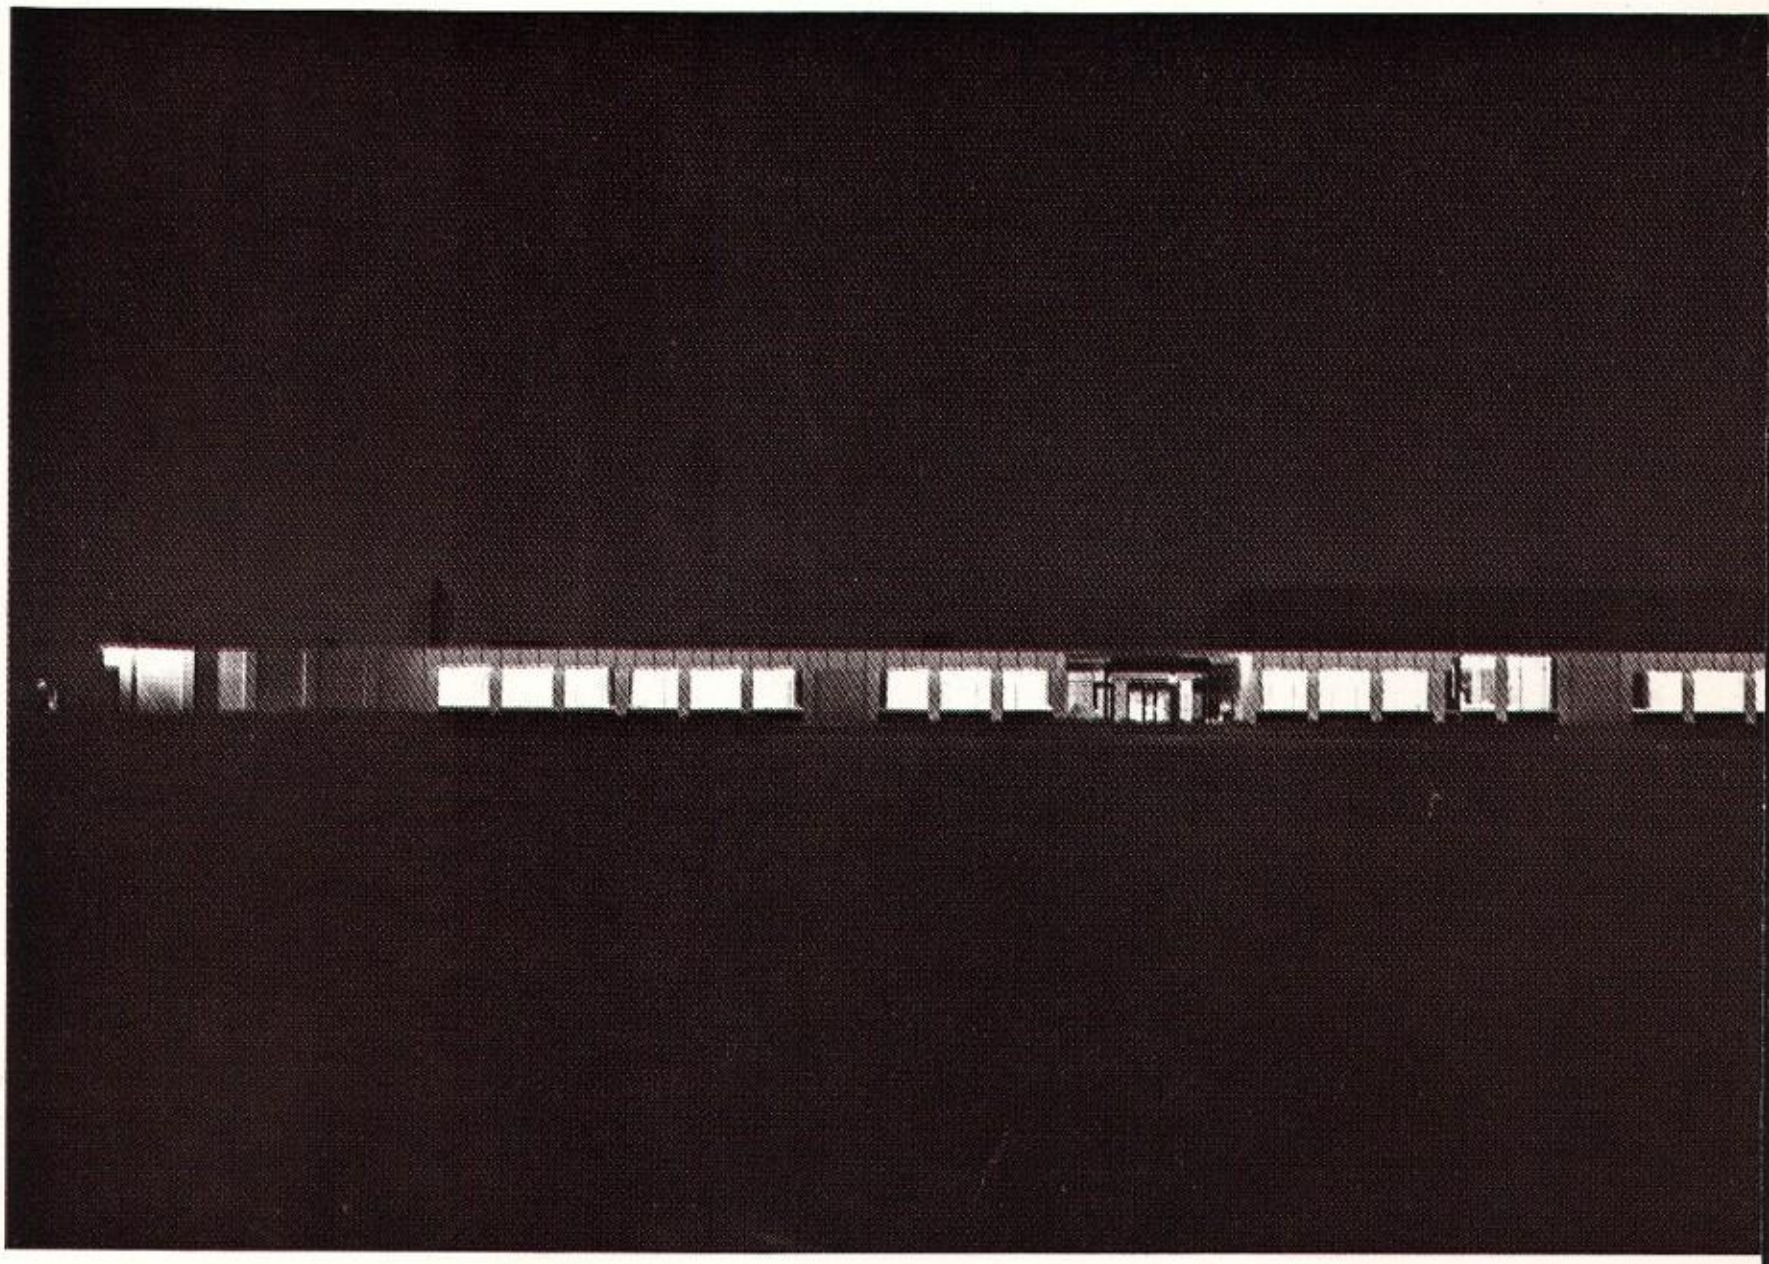
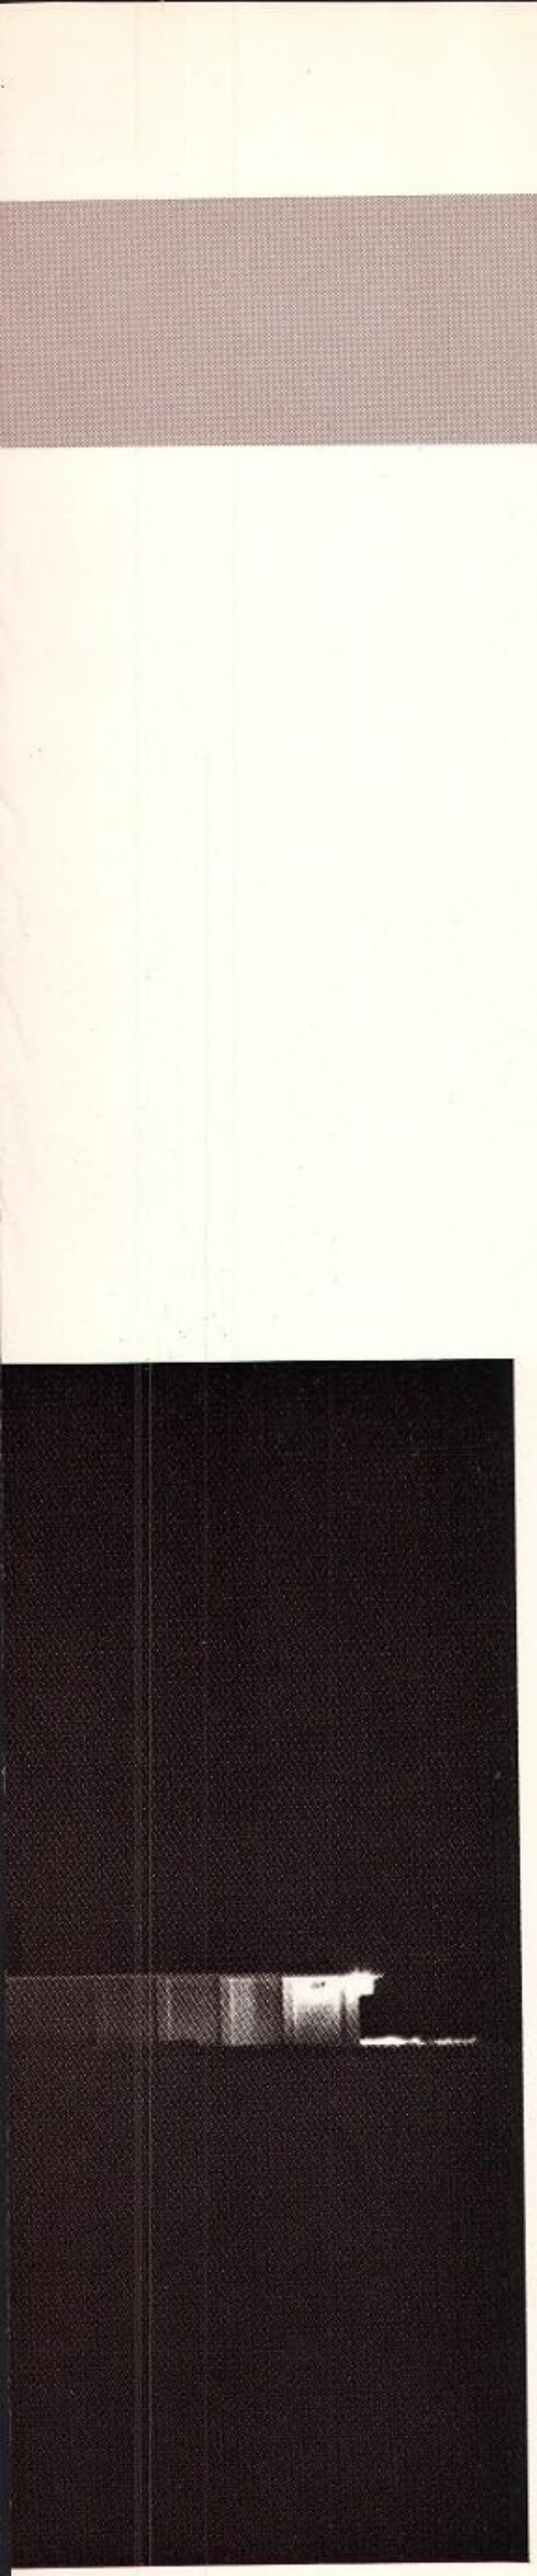
HEATH HIGH SCHOOL

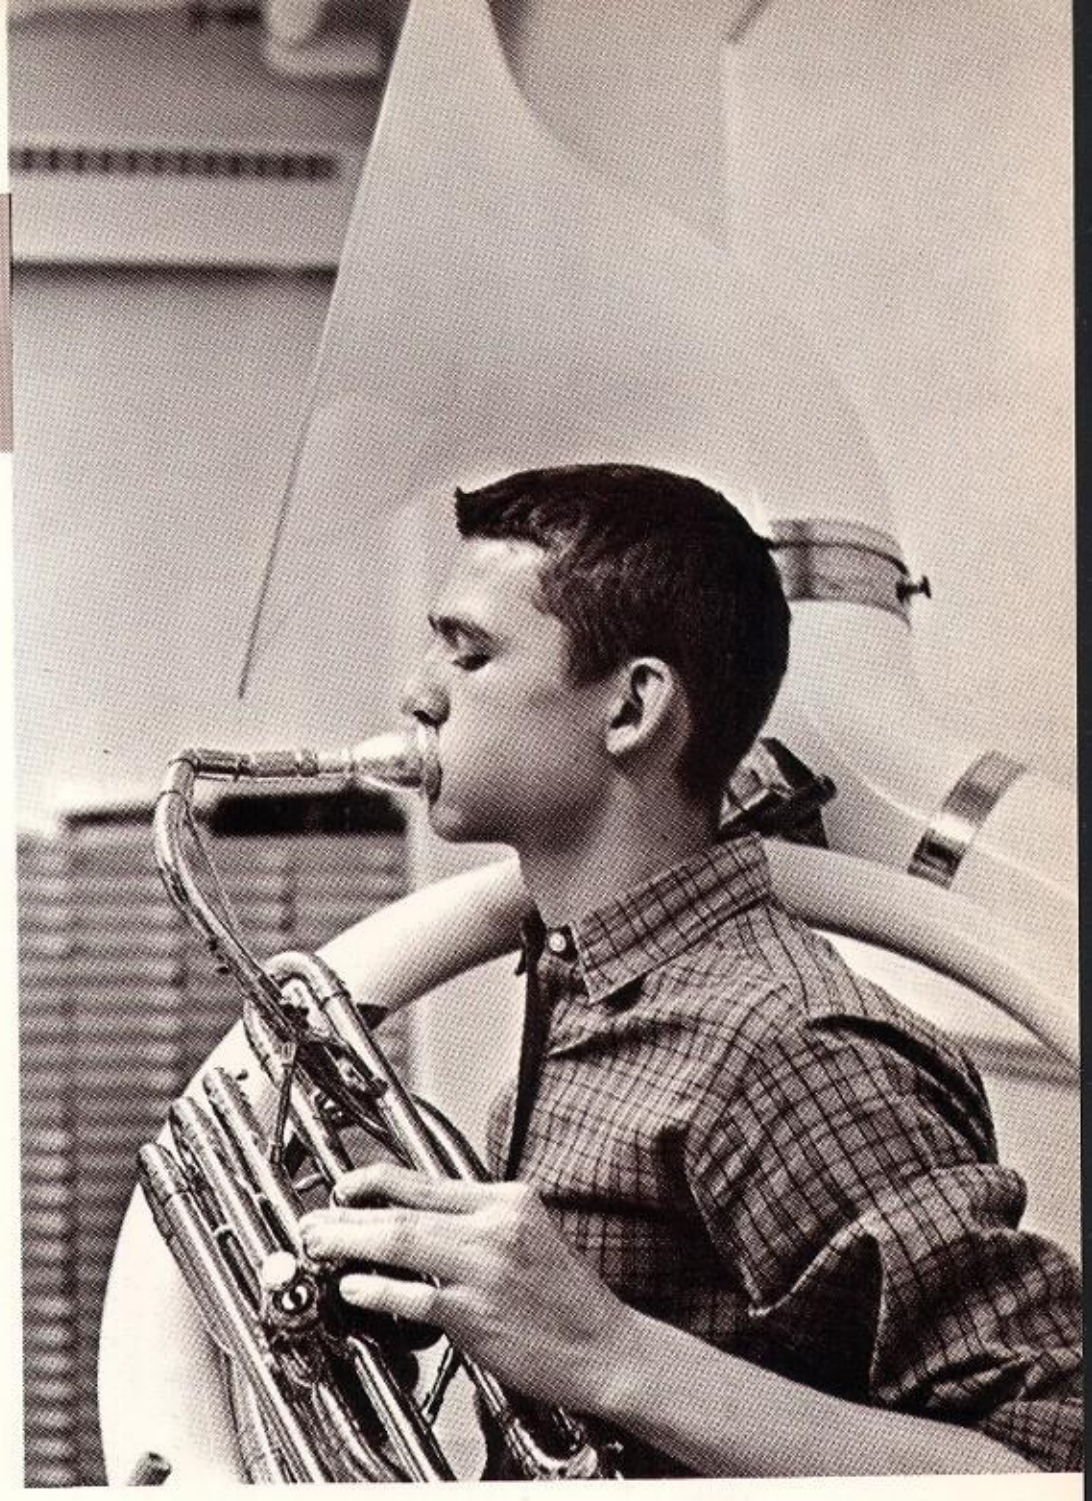
INTEGRITY

. . . I am a part of all that I have met . . .







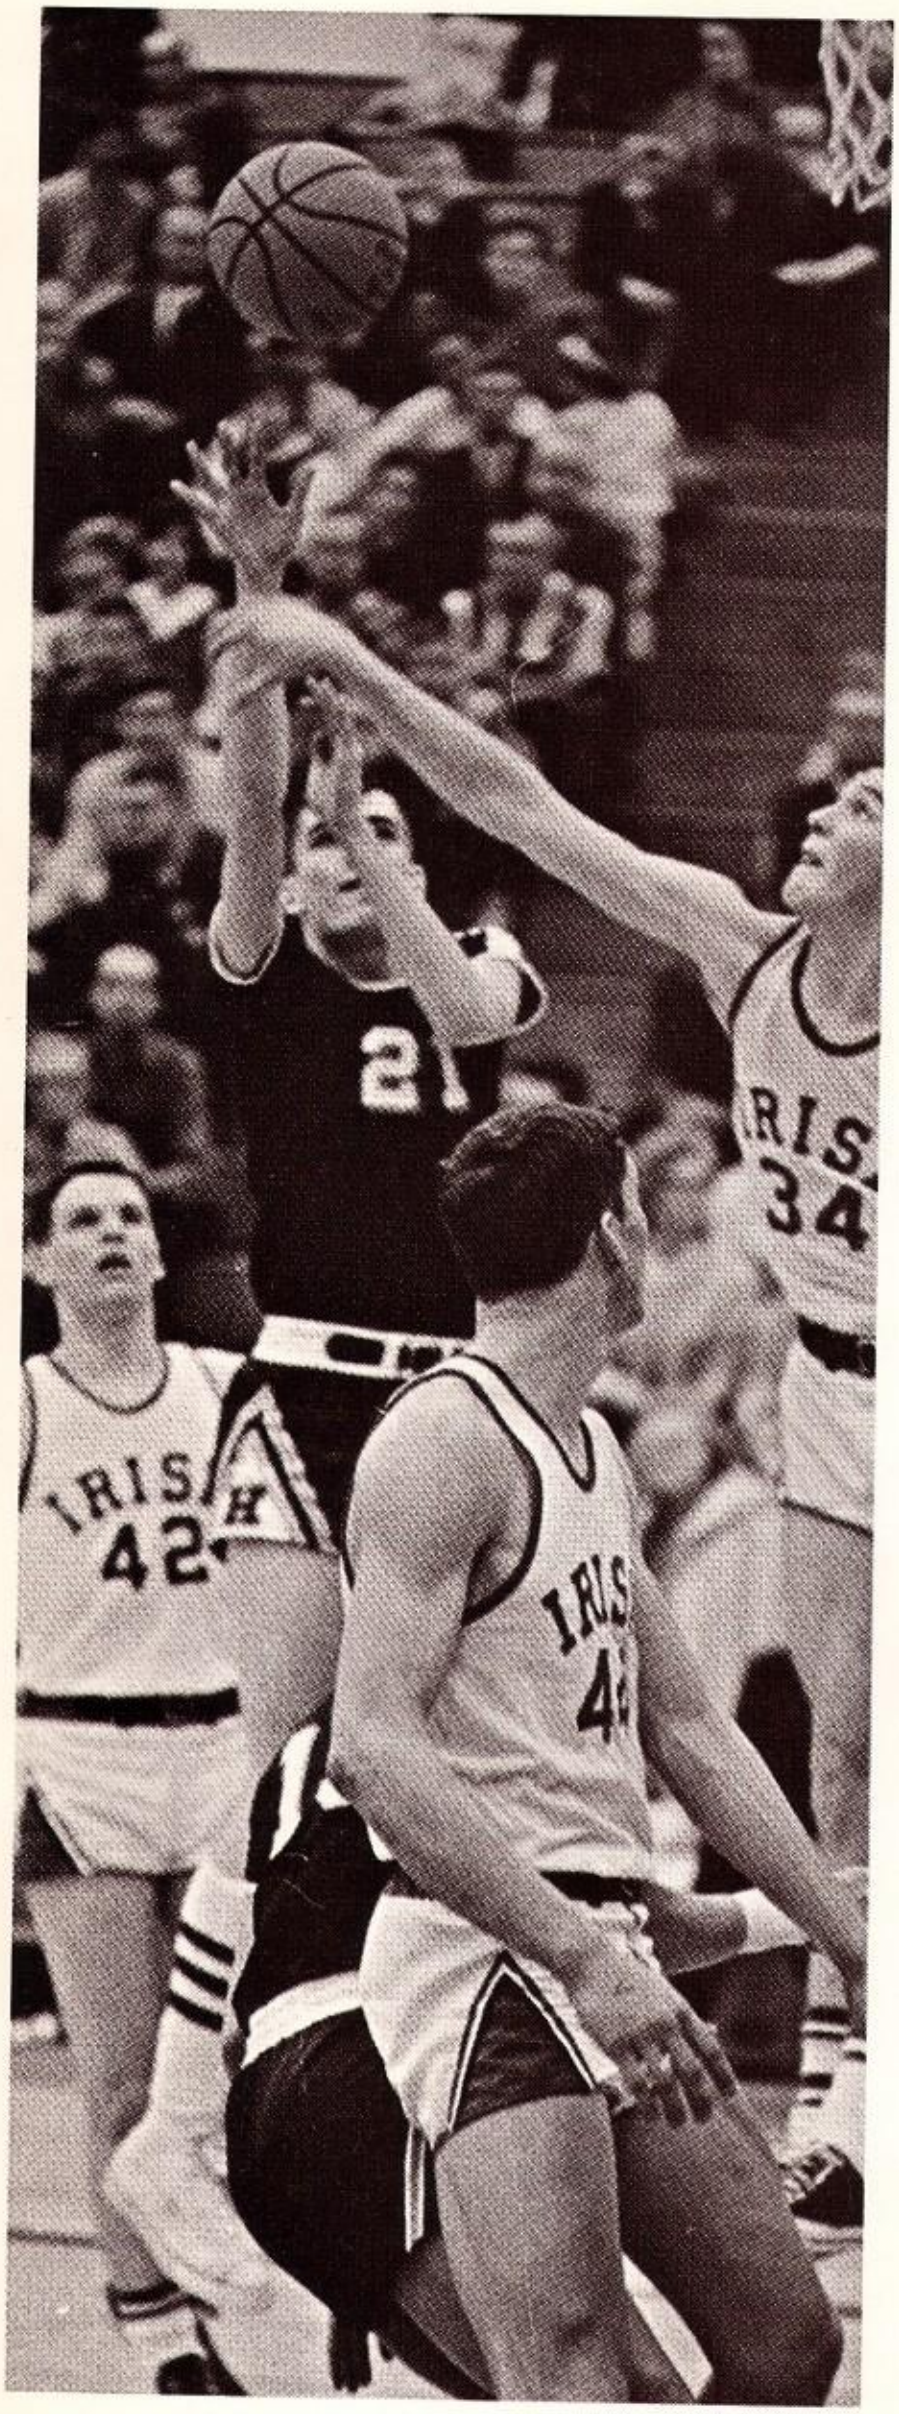


As another school year comes to an end, we stop to remember those experiences which have made up that year. They compose a section of our lives which we shall never forget.

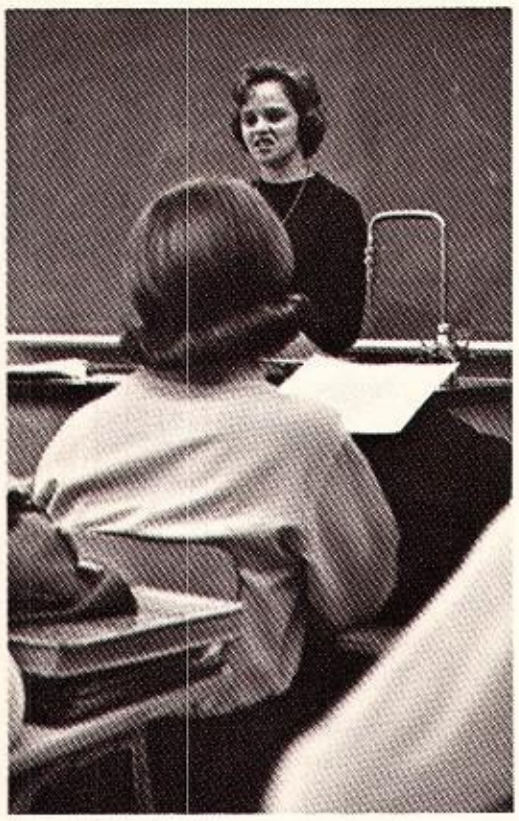
Ulysses realized that he was a part of everything and everyone with whom he came in contact. We too should understand that everywhere we go we leave a little of ourselves.

A musician puts into every line a portion of his own personality. A student puts on paper a part of himself with every sentence he writes. He adds the spark of his own personality to all he meets. In this way he is a part of all he meets.

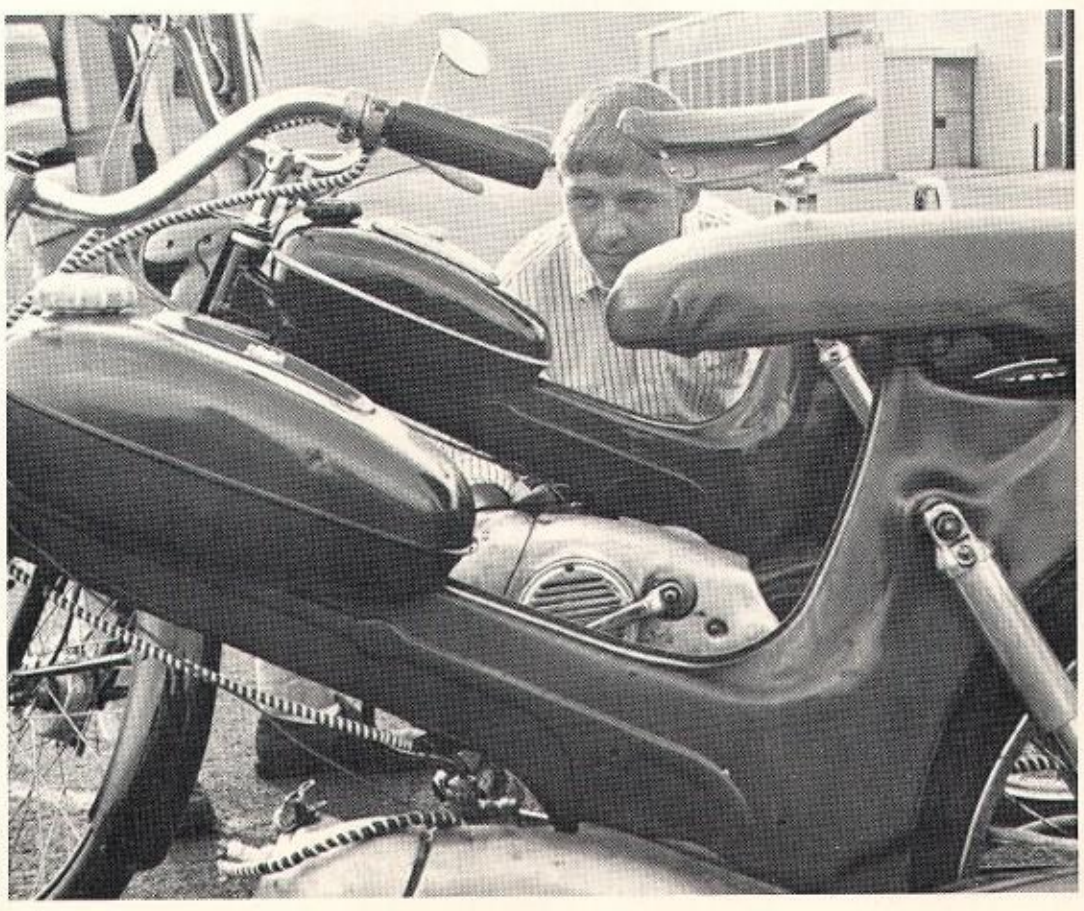
The things which we do everyday reflect our personalities and attitudes. They tell of ourselves, what we feel and what we learn.

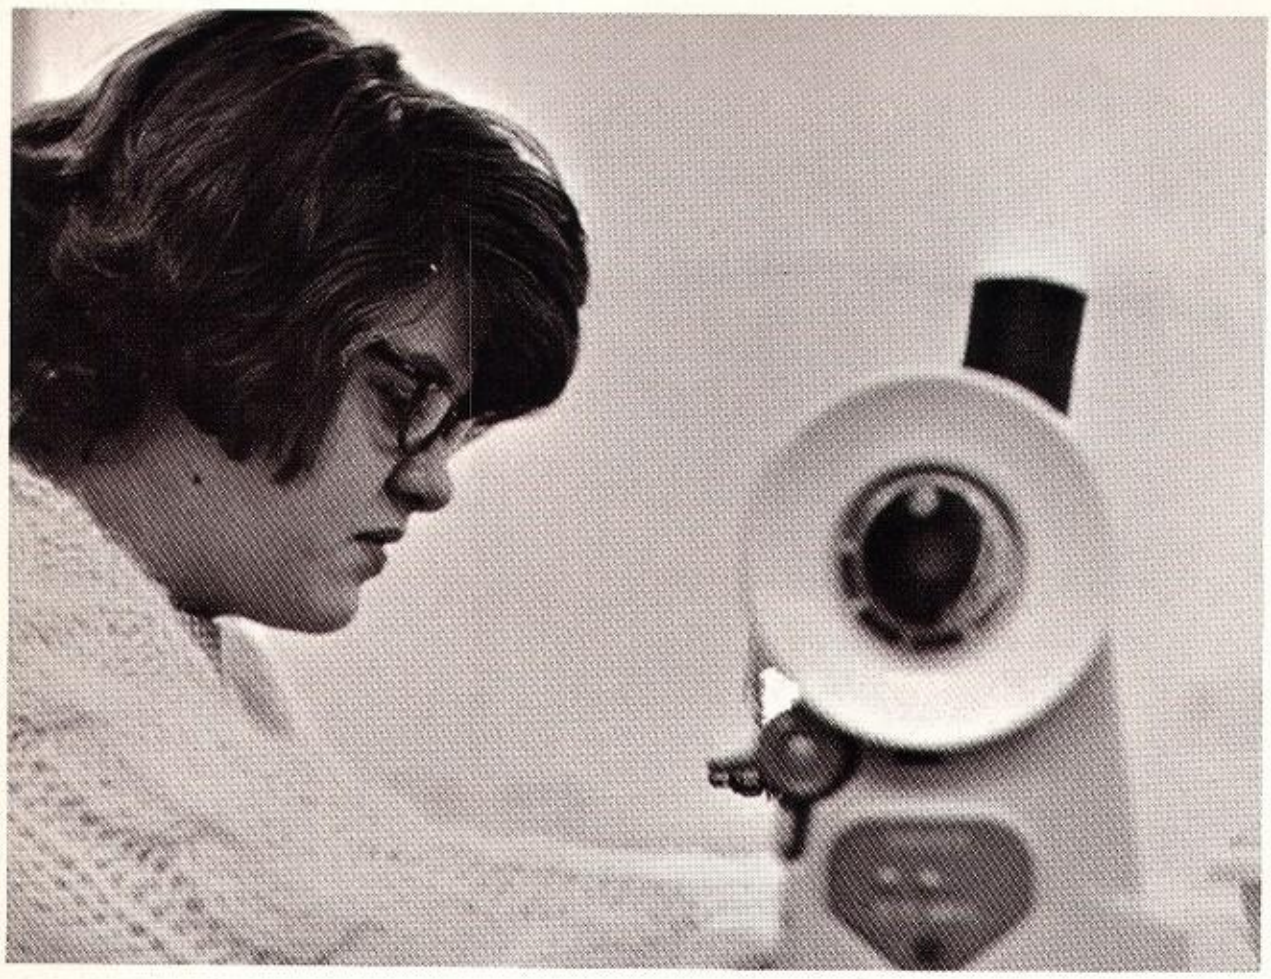


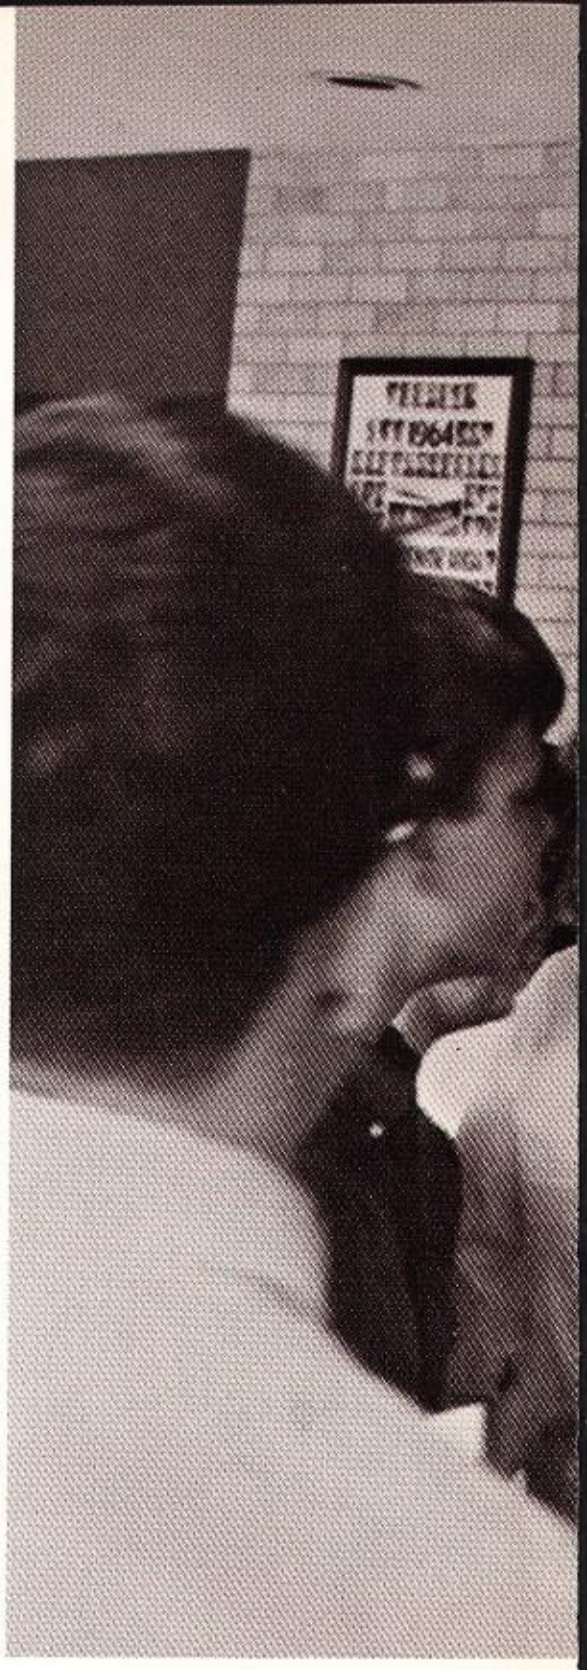
To the student, Heath High is more than just a school, sometime during the four years spent in the halls and the classrooms, it stops being just another educational institution and becomes a way of life. Classes and activities become a world of opportunities to express and improve ourselves. To us, even such familiar actions as the morning bus ride or lunch in the cafeteria hold many happy memories.



SCHOOL BUS

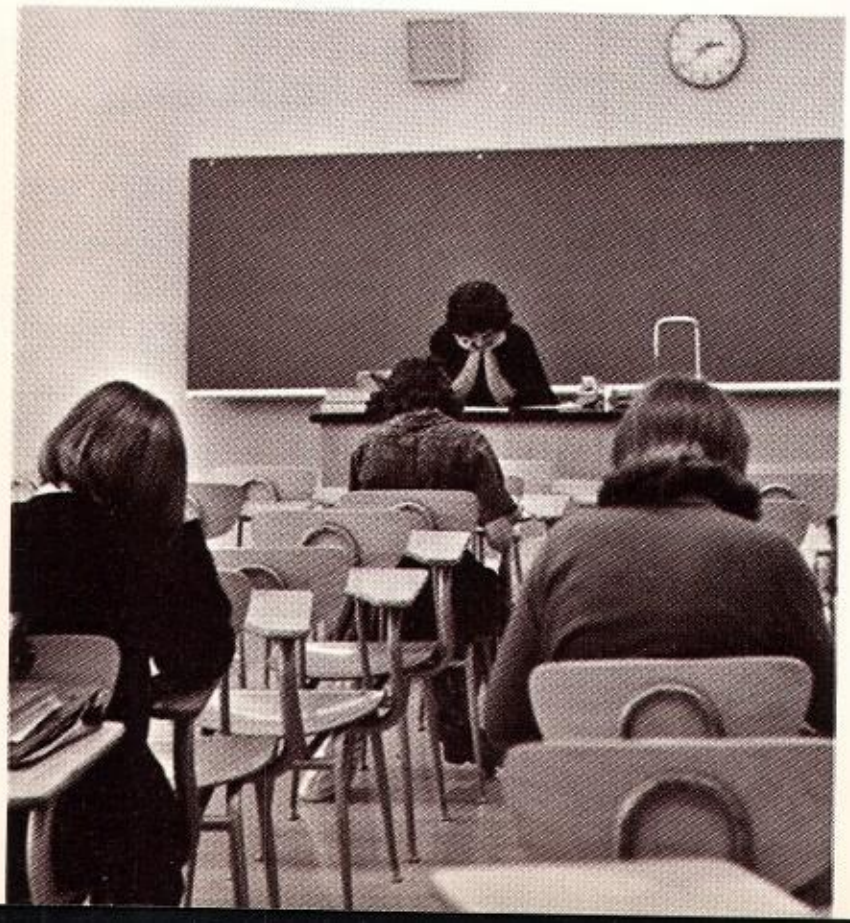






Students at Heath give their best to their school. Each one does his part. Whether he works in the office, helps in the library, adds interest to an assembly, decorates a bulletin board, or adds interest to a class discussion, he gives of his personality to those around him.

The world around us waits for a kind word, or a smile of friendship. Each of us is a part of all that we have met. The world will not stop because of our actions and yet it will not forget them.



During their high school years, students make a great many friends. These include not only classmates, but also teachers. Many of our goals can only be realized by the cooperation of students and teachers.

It is a familiar sight to see our teachers seated at their desks preparing tomorrow's lesson; they often are faced with decisions, and many times appreciate any suggestions students can give them.

Outside the classroom, teacher-student relationships are strengthened as they meet together to cheer the teams on to victory or sample the entrees of the cake-baking contest.

We are a part of all that we have met, we give of ourselves not only to classmates, but also to teachers.

Faculty

As we pursue our goal, as we search for knowledge, we are firmly guided down the paths by many people. The most help, however, comes from those who have devoted their lives to the betterment of youth, they who have chosen as their profession the impartment of knowledge to the young. We shall never forget the help and guidance given us by our teachers.

Teachers Inspire Students To Do Their Best Work

At Heath, teachers give their best to the school. Their role is one of inspiration and guidance. This is a difficult role to fill, but our teachers devote their time and energy to their students.

Aside from regular classroom responsibility, teachers coach the teams, chaperone the dances and trips, and sponsor many different clubs and organizations.

Our teachers guide us both in class and outside the classroom to follow knowledge like a sinking star.

Social Studies Offers New Courses And Ideas

Students at Heath are required to take courses in Social Studies. These courses, World History, American History, and American Government, impress upon our minds the creation and organization of our government, and the governments of past civilizations. They help to develop pride and patriotism.

Students write term papers covering a wide variety of topics, study culture and gain a wider understanding of the growth of our country. The discovery of how and why our country has become the prosperous world leader that it is, opens to students the door to knowledge and respect of our country.

Knowledge Of Math Is Valuable Asset

Whether the student is interested in the Business field or College, he will find that a knowledge of Math will make his journey into the future more rewarding.

For the college bound student, a full selection of Advanced Math is offered. Algebra I and Advanced Algebra offer a challenge to all students, Plane Geometry is designed for the questioning student to teach him to think and learn. Even the smartest Mathematician is challenged by a course offered in Trigonometry and Solid Geometry.

Sciences Satisfy Inquiring Minds

Those with inquisitive minds, and a thirst for scientific knowledge will find satisfying courses of scientific study offered at Heath.

Biology I and II are devoted to the study of life and the gaining of knowledge of the life around us. In first year Biology, the student is introduced to life by the study of plants and animals ranging from the simple amoeba to much higher forms of life. In Biology II, pupils are given further insight into this complex subject.

For those who want a better understanding of the elements and objects about us, Chemistry is offered. Here students study and then are given the opportunity to try what they have learned in it by experiments during lab sessions.

Physics is a science that deals with matter and motion and includes mechanics, heat, light electricity, and sound.

Teach Understanding, Expression In English

Communication is important not only within our own country, but also between countries. The study of language helps a student to better understand the people of other countries.

At Heath, students are offered courses in Spanish and French. During the first two years basic fundamentals are taught and each student gains some knowledge of the country's history. For those who wish to continue this study, third and fourth year courses are given in which students translate plays and write term papers.

One of the basic necessities for all who wish to succeed is communication. Whether or not a student intends to continue his education after high school he will find that his ability to communicate will be improved and increased by a knowledge of proper English.

During a student's first two years at Heath, English courses stress grammar, with some literature. Later, he may choose between college and business English. The college-bound Senior is offered both regular College English or Honors English.

Students Gain Insight Through Training Home Economics And Industrial Arts

In the Home Economic and Industrial Arts classes, students are given the opportunity to gain practical experience in nonacademic fields. Both college-bound and work-bound students enjoy and participate in these courses.

In the Home Economic Department, girls learn the fundamentals of cooking and sewing. They write papers and reports on various subjects concerned with self-improvement and adjustment to present and future life.

In Industrial Arts, boys learn the correct and safe ways of using machinery, and work with metal and wood.

Faculty members await their chance to enter the game against the Key Club members.

Student Teachers

Each year Heath carries on a student teacher program. This enables secondary education majors to teach while still in school.

This year we had five different student teachers. French students were helped by our student teacher Miss Merrit. American History was never as interesting as when taught by Miss Constante. Many college-bound math students received the instruction and help of Mr. Weinstein. Mr. Shea, our science teacher turned his classes over (with a watchful eye) to Mr. Stagg.

Mr. William Schaller did his Field Experiences at Heath as an observer from Ohio University.

The year 1966 was indeed a history-making year. It was the year of a 15 minute space walk by astronaut Ed White. It was a year guided by our President, Lyndon B. Johnson as he led us in The Great Society. His Job Opportunity Program reached Heath students.

Even though we were busy thinking of school and the passing of tests, we were constantly reminded of Viet Nam and the boys fighting and dying there...many former Heath students were serving their country well.

School Life

As we pass through the arch of experience into the untraveled world of tomorrow, we carry with us a host of memories of past events. We will always remember; the excitement of the first touchdown of the year, searching for that special book that just can't be found, and quiet moments when one sits alone and creates a memory, either on paper or in thought.

At Heath, all students are given the opportunity to participate in activities. There is something for all. Before the student gleams an array of dances, assemblies, plays, concerts, and clubs, all of these make up those unforgettable memories.

Homecoming

This year, our Homecoming spirits were not dampened by either the weather, which was rainy, or the outcome of the game. The Heath Bulldogs clashed on the field with the Lakewood Lancers.

At the half time ceremony, Queen Cheri Doty, who was escorted by Senior Ken Shellberg, was crowned and given the traditional kiss by team captain Al Conner. Members of her court were: Sally Nichols escorted by Doug Franga, Pat Crider and her escort Rick Crist, and Bev Seaman escorted by Tom Jones.

The dance was held the following evening in the High School Gym. The theme was "Autumn Leaves," and everyone enjoyed the music of the Pendeltons. Our Queen was escorted to the dance by Senior Ed Thagard. Sally Nichols chose as her escort Tom Attabury, Pat Crider was escorted by Bob Weiman, and Bev Seaman was escorted by Jim Calhoun. The Homecoming was a night that we will all remember.

Ulysses was a man who took delight in every accomplishment that he set out to do. At Heath, we may accomplish a dual purpose by joining the numerous clubs and participating in the many activities that we have access to.

Who can ever forget the Dramatic's Club initiations? Or how about the breathless moment of National Honor Society initiations when you were called to the stage? And do you remember trying to finish the project so the club could get some much needed money?

All these are only proof of the requited enjoyment that may be taken merely by the joining.

This year, the club gained a feeling of identity through many successful club projects. They formulated and adopted a constitution, were chartered as a club, had regular meetings, selected a club project of correspondence with students in France and ordered club pins.

The Girls' Athletic Association has truly been active this year. Under the new leadership of Miss Walter, the athletic program for Heath booms. The club meets regularly and sponsored the Christmas dance which carried out the theme of a ski party.

May 4 was the traditional May Breakfast. The cafeteria was converted into an English countryside with the lavender and white May Pole occupying the center. The teachers and club members watched the freshman initiation skits, and installation of new officers.

The G. A. A. teams completed a busy season. Not only did we have a girls' basketball with "Wilt" Liggett as a star, they had a track and softball team. All teams had games with other schools.

The National Honor Society at Heath High School is less than one year old. In May of 1965, 8 seniors and 16 juniors were elected to membership in the Heath chapter of this National honorary organization. Members are chosen on the basis of their scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

This year has been spent in getting the group started, officers elected, etc.

In February, the Honor Society joined the Key Club in sponsoring the first Book Fair held at Heath High School. The two groups showed that this was a successful venture. Events of April and May included the initiation of new members and the election and installation of officers for the coming year.

The Footlighters Club is open to students who help in any way with a dramatic production at Heath High. Regular meetings are held the second Tuesday of the month. An annual picnic for the Club members is held at Mrs. Swank's house in May, at which time new members are initiated.

Troupe 2728 of the National Thespian Society is an honorary which recognizes those who have contributed in an outstanding way to the dramatic arts program in the high school. Our troupe was chartered in March when initiation was conducted by Troupe 1646 of Utica High School. A second initiation was held in May. Twenty-seven members and two honorary members, Miss Esther Smith and Mr. Rod Swank, qualified for chapter membership.

The Science Club has been active this year taking field trips to Newark Airport and Owens Corning Technical Center. A number of educational movies have been shown dealing with science. As an added feature, special instruction has been given on the use of a slide rule. Doug Franga has been an outstanding member of the club. He won the District and Regional Science Fair with a project involving plants in a reduced atmosphere.

The Library Club was one of the first clubs to be organized at Heath High School.

The club meets the first Tuesday of each month. Its purpose is to enable students to learn library procedures and techniques; to provide opportunity for vocational exploration by practice in library service; to popularize reading among all students; and to enjoy varied group reading experiences. Our motto is: READING: A GATEWAY TO KNOWLEDGE.

Members answer roll call each time by giving the name of a book they are reading, several book talks are given, a library project is accomplished, and some educational games are enjoyed. Occasionally, the advisor treats the members. An achievement prize has been established for the outstanding club member of the year.

The annual picnic held at Hoback Park finished the activities for the year.

The Key Club is a service organization to the school and is affiliated with the Kiwanis. It is the newest club, as it was just chartered in December, 1965.

The club projects this year included services to the school as the Paperback Book Fair held jointly with the National Honor Society in February and the Book Drive for the school library.

The school faculty also participated with them in a fund-raising basketball game.

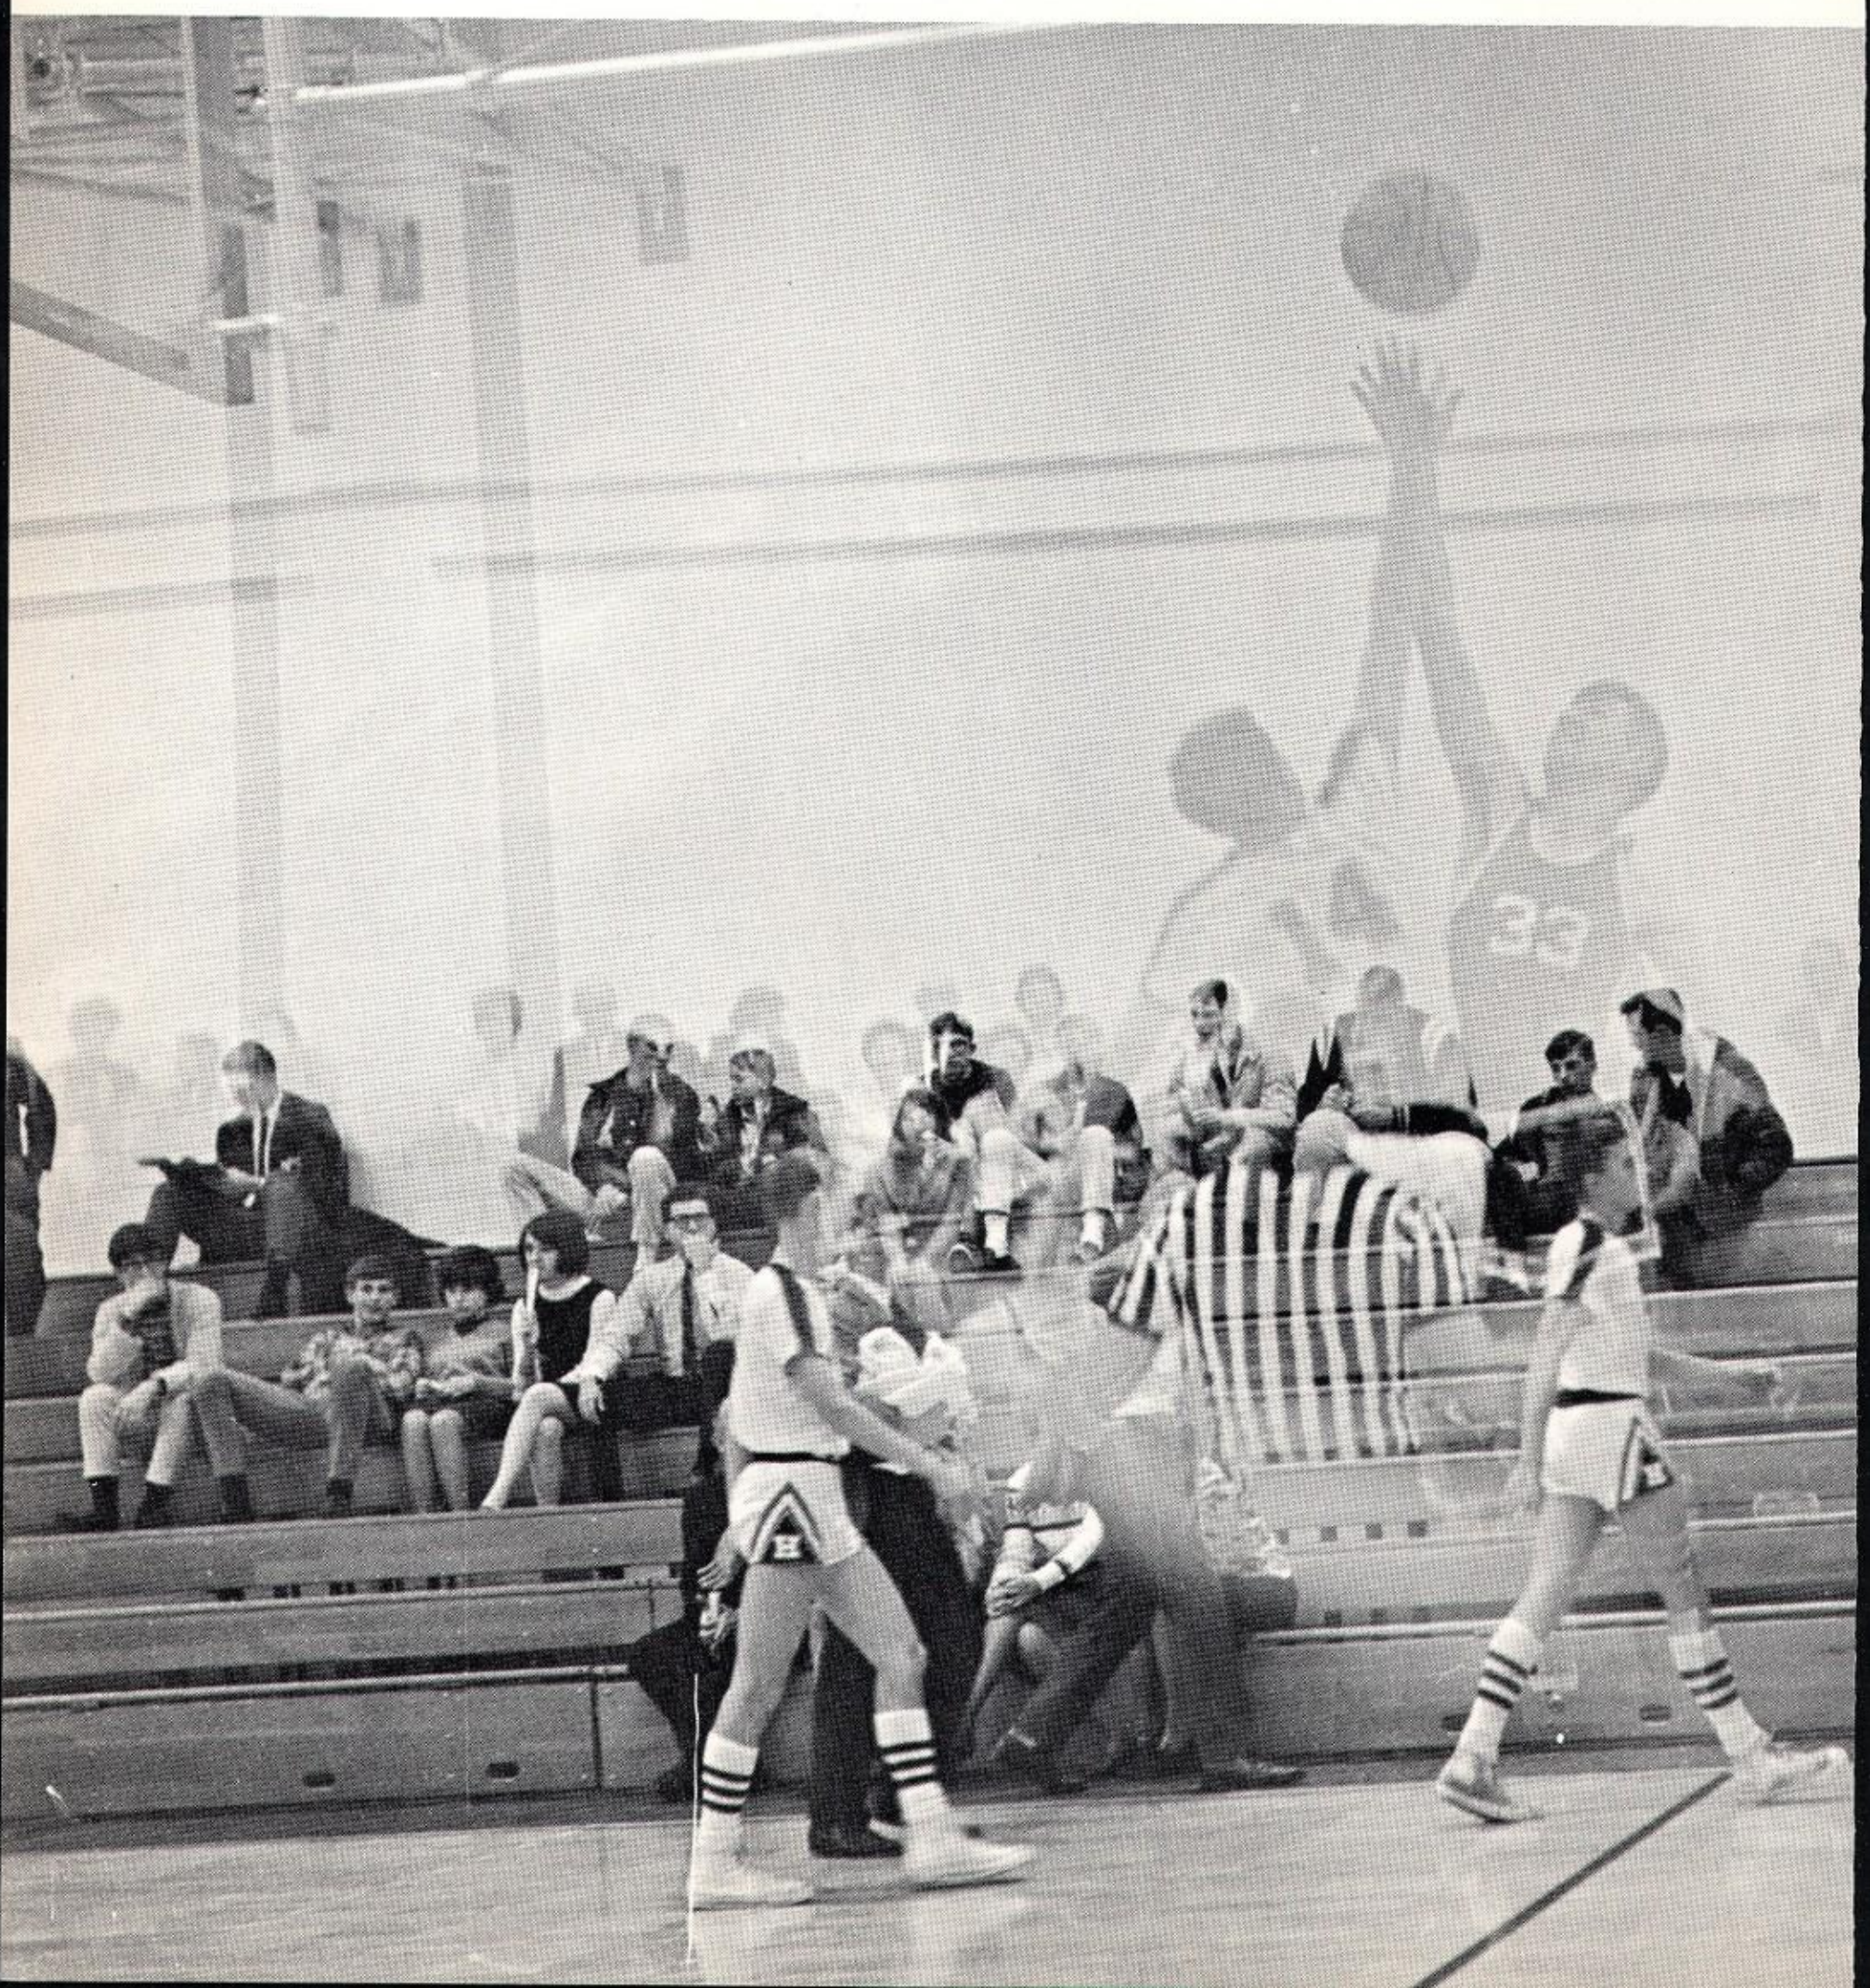
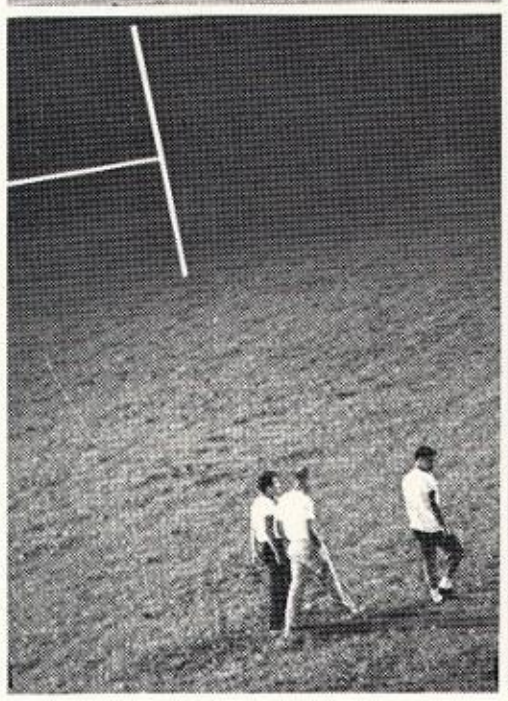
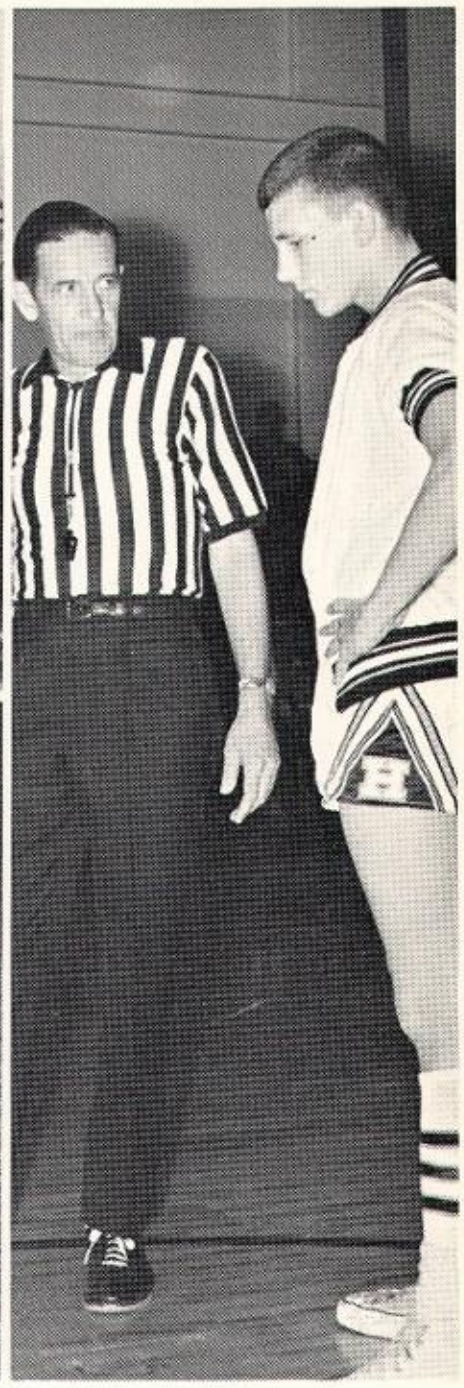
INTEGRITY

. . . And drunk delight of battle with my peers . . .







Athletics

Like Ulysses, we have rejoiced in the face of victory, yet never cowered in the grimness of defeat. Whether it be an anxious moment at the gib football game when you feel your eardrums are likely to burst from all the screaming, or at the last track meet when the tension is so great even the most reserved spectator is brought to his feet, we will always remember the hot moments of yesterday's competition through the warm memories of today.

We are proud of Heath's athletes and are constantly striving to make the future ones even better. If they follow the past example, they too will "drink the delight of battle."

Football 1965-66

The 1965-66 Bulldog football season was termed a success, even though the team did not carry a winning record. Team members played hard every game and worked to make every game exciting.

All-County halfback, Al Conner, won the Best Back award as well as the Most Valuable Player award. Al thrilled the Bulldog rooters with many fine runs.

Center Dan DeLawder won the Best Lineman and Bob Mohler won the Most Improved Player award.

At Heath, the 1965-66 year held many thrills. We did not have a winning season, but we had a fine group of competitors. We didn't have any giants on the team, but the boys made up for it with spirit. Our record proves that a record does not tell the entire story--that we had a team that Heath could be proud of.

Fred Cherubini set a scoring record of 35 points in one game and won the Licking County Scoring championship. Fred won the Most Valuable award, Dan DeLawder won the Most Improved Player award and the Rebounding Trophy. Steve Helms won the Free Throw Trophy. Track Team Places 3rd In County

The 1965-66 Track Team enjoyed another winning season, although not as good as last year when they won the County Championship. The team started out slow, but as the season went on they began to pick up momentum. They finished the season with a 5-3 record, taking fourth in the Heath Invitational and third in the County Meet. A number of boys from Heath made it to the Regional which is just one step from the State Track meet. Al Conner led the scoring for the Bulldog tracksters and won the most valuable running events man. Barry Coleman won the most valuable field events award. The most improved player award went to Terry Mohler.

Students

What is this world we now must seek? It is the same kind which Ulysses sought: A new world — one which we have thus far known only vicariously. Now it is our turn to take command of its problems and seek our own solutions to the many problems that plague the world today. And yet, like Ulysses, we are determined to meet the challenges of the vast, ever-changing world, wisely and unafraid. For we must realize that if the youth of today fail, all mankind will perish. In a world which is now capable of total self-destruction, our huge task lies before us, waiting to be conquered.

There Are New Worlds To Examine

One of the most outstanding projects of the Freshman Class was a Western Style dance. The "We Who Are" was the band who played for the dance. Decorations were building fronts along the walls. Swinging doors led to the courtyard where refreshments were served.

Late in the year the class put on their first newspaper entitled "Freshman Features." The paper was staffed by the 6th and 7th period English classes of Mrs. Rogers. The class decided to publish the paper after studying a chapter on Journalism in their English books. The news in the newspaper included club news, sports, and school news in general.

This year the Freshmen had an outstanding project at the Science Fair. Dave Harrison won an excellent rating at St. John's Arena where the Science Fair was held. His project was "Effects of Acids on Organic Tissues."

The first project of the Sophomore Class was a bake sale at Penney's in Southgate. Cookies, brownies, fudge, and cupcakes were sold. The class officers were in charge of the bake sale.

The outstanding project of the year was a candy sale which netted the class $500 profit. Dave Pugh and Linda Van Winkle were top salesmen. The class officers were again in charge of this sale. Four kinds of candy were sold: mint, coconut, almond, and chocolate supremes.

The biggest class dance of the year was put on by the Sophomores. The theme was peasant as everyone came dressed in their worst. Gary Wimer and Cathy Mihelarakis were crowned King and Queen of the dance.

Juniors. Their Energy Is Unlimited . .

The first major project of the Junior Class was the successful Homecoming Dance. "Autumn Leaves" was the theme of the dance held in the high school gymnasium. The dance will long be remembered for the poison ivy leaves that inadvertently got into the decorations.

The Junior Class wound up a project this year that was started in their Sophomore year. The project was selling stationery. They sold nearly 288 boxes with a profit of $170.

The biggest project for the class was the annual Junior-Senior Prom. The dinner and dance were held at the Carousel. The theme of the prom was "Springtime Fantasy."

Senior Class Officers

This year's graduating class is the first to have completed four complete years in the Heath High School. At the beginning of the year, and all through the year, the class members have had a desire to make their class the best Senior Class Heath has ever seen.

The class started out very well financially since there was money left over from the Junior year. There were no dues to raise money. Bake sales were the major means of raising money. The bake sales were so successful that the class was able to put on an elaborate Senior Sock Hop. The class worked very hard on the dance.

The class also put on the first after-prom party that a Heath High class has ever had. No class money was used for this project; funds were raised through car washes and ticket sales.

In the last weeks a Regression Day was held. Members of the class met at the L & K for breakfast and then rode bicycles to school. Previous to the homeroom period, members of the class were called into Mr. Swank's office for a "friendly visit."

The last project was a Senior picnic at Pleasant Hill.

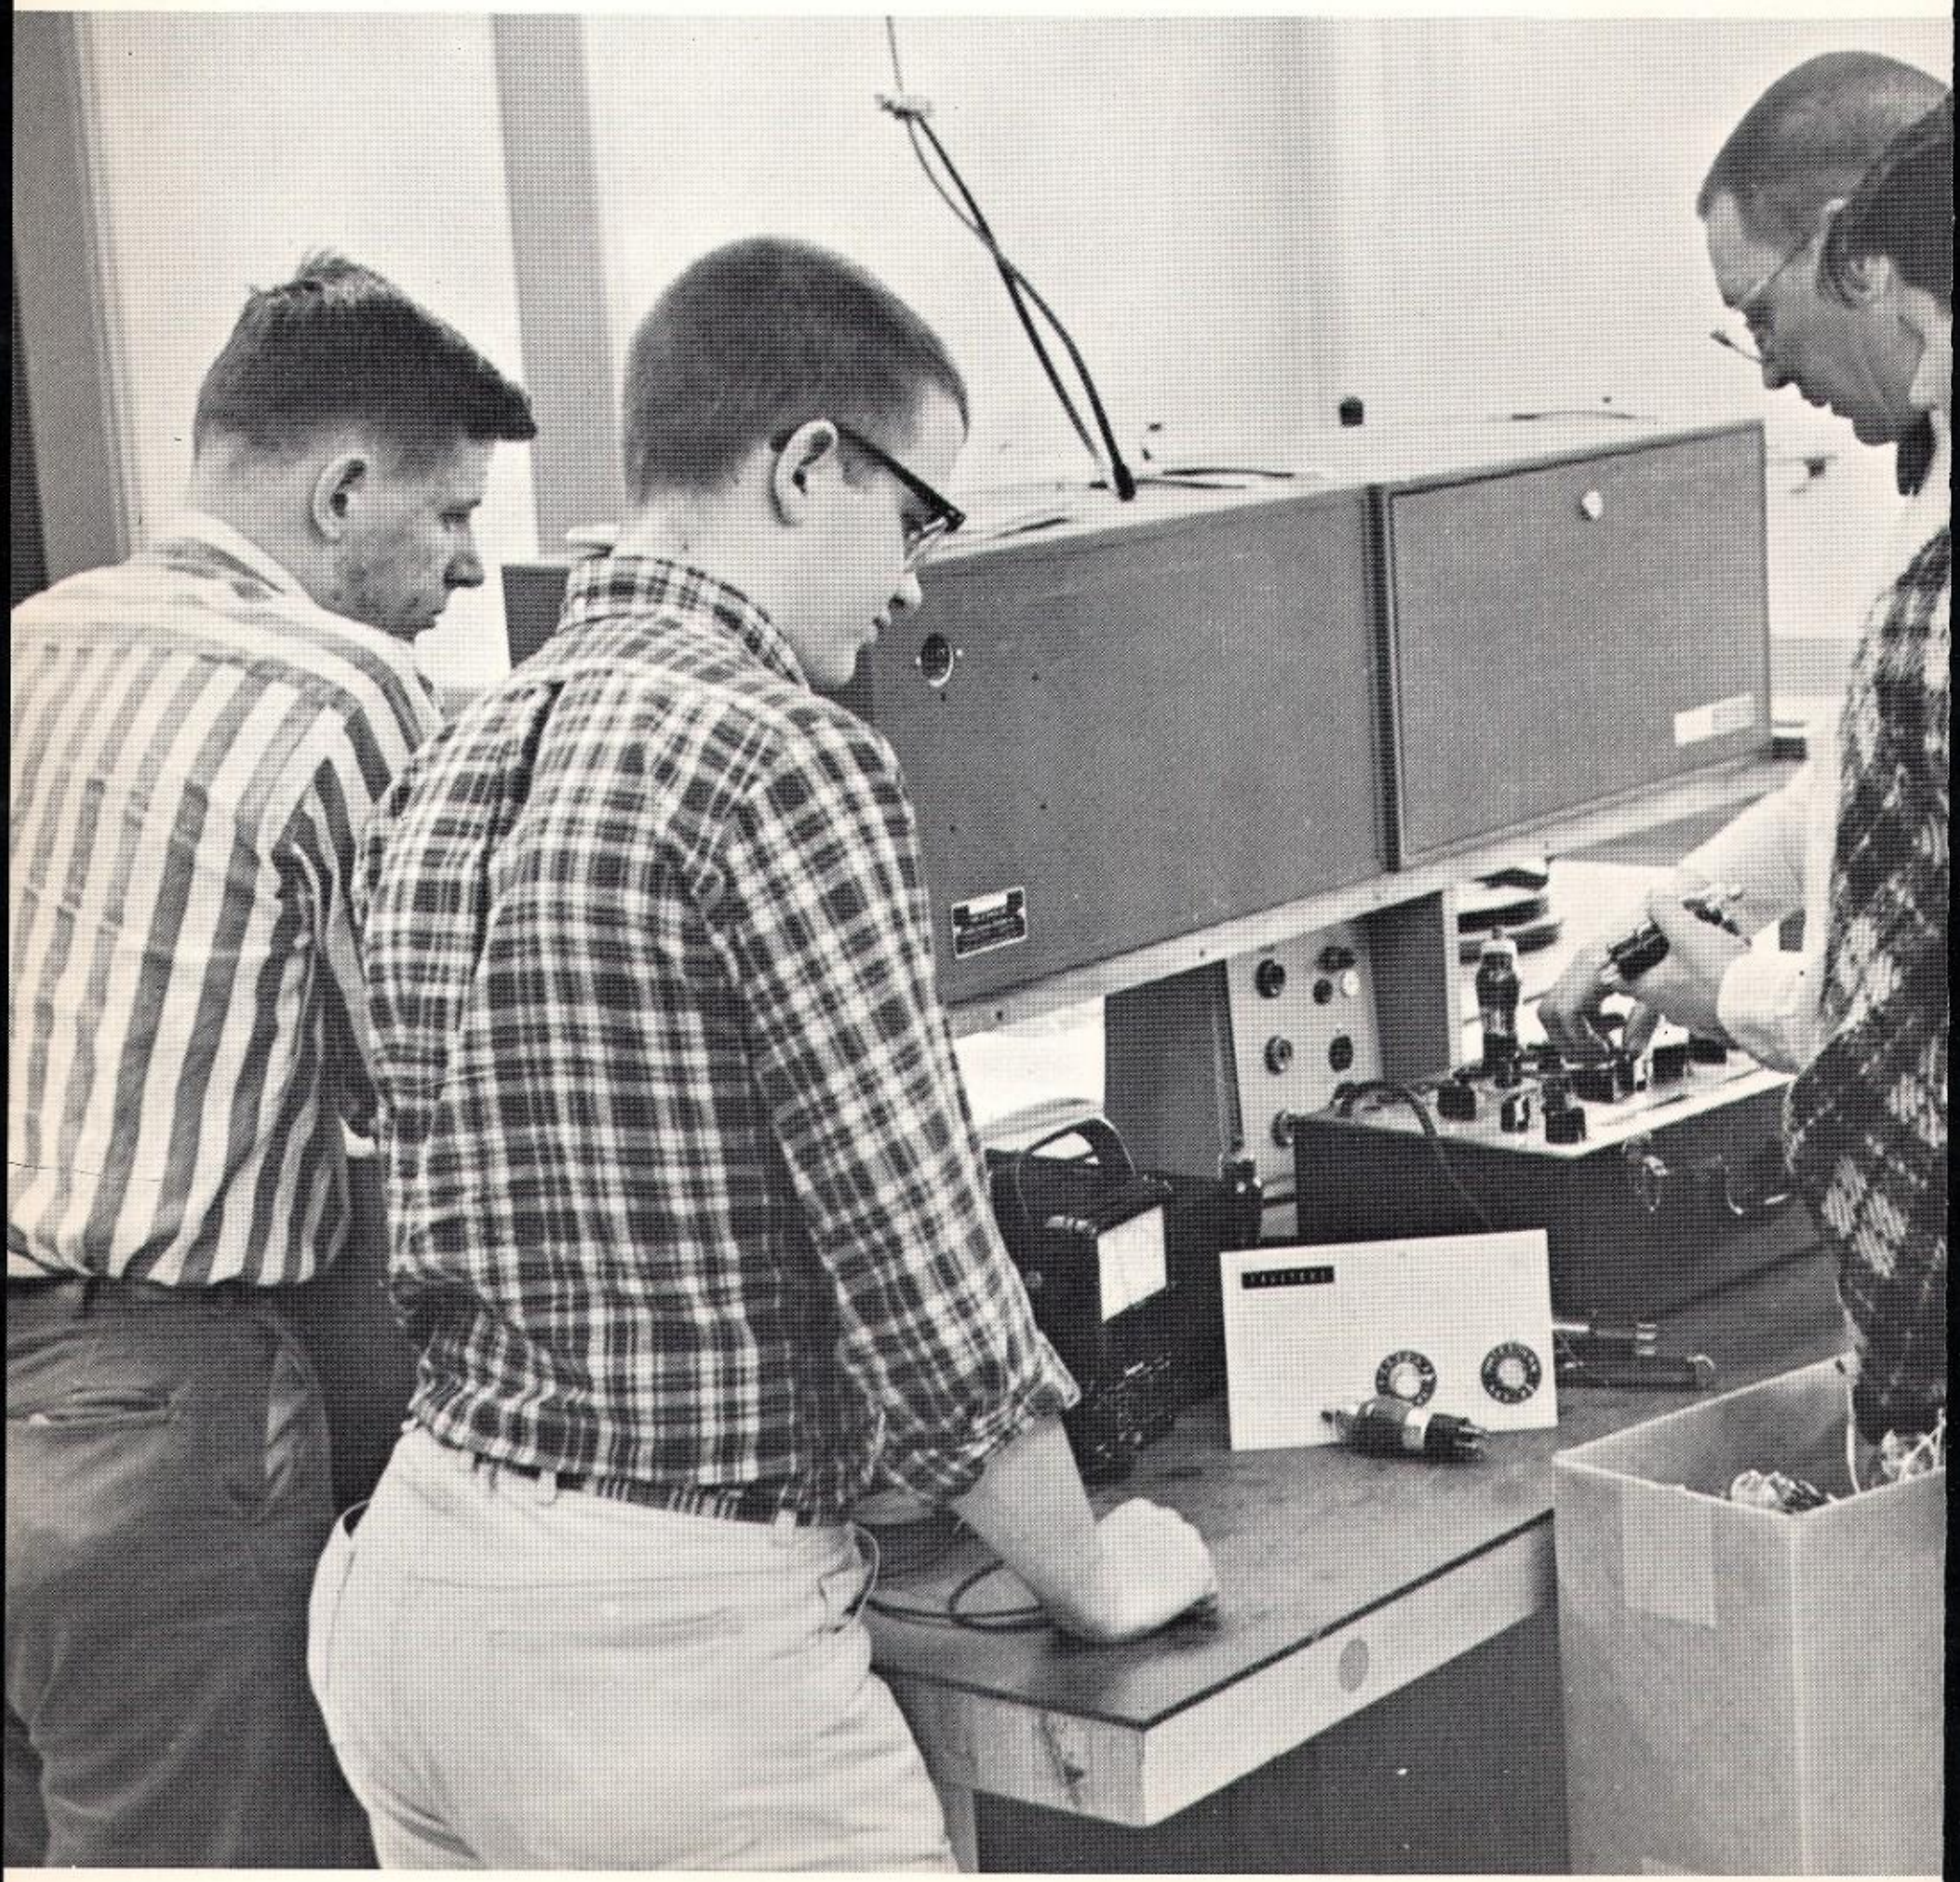
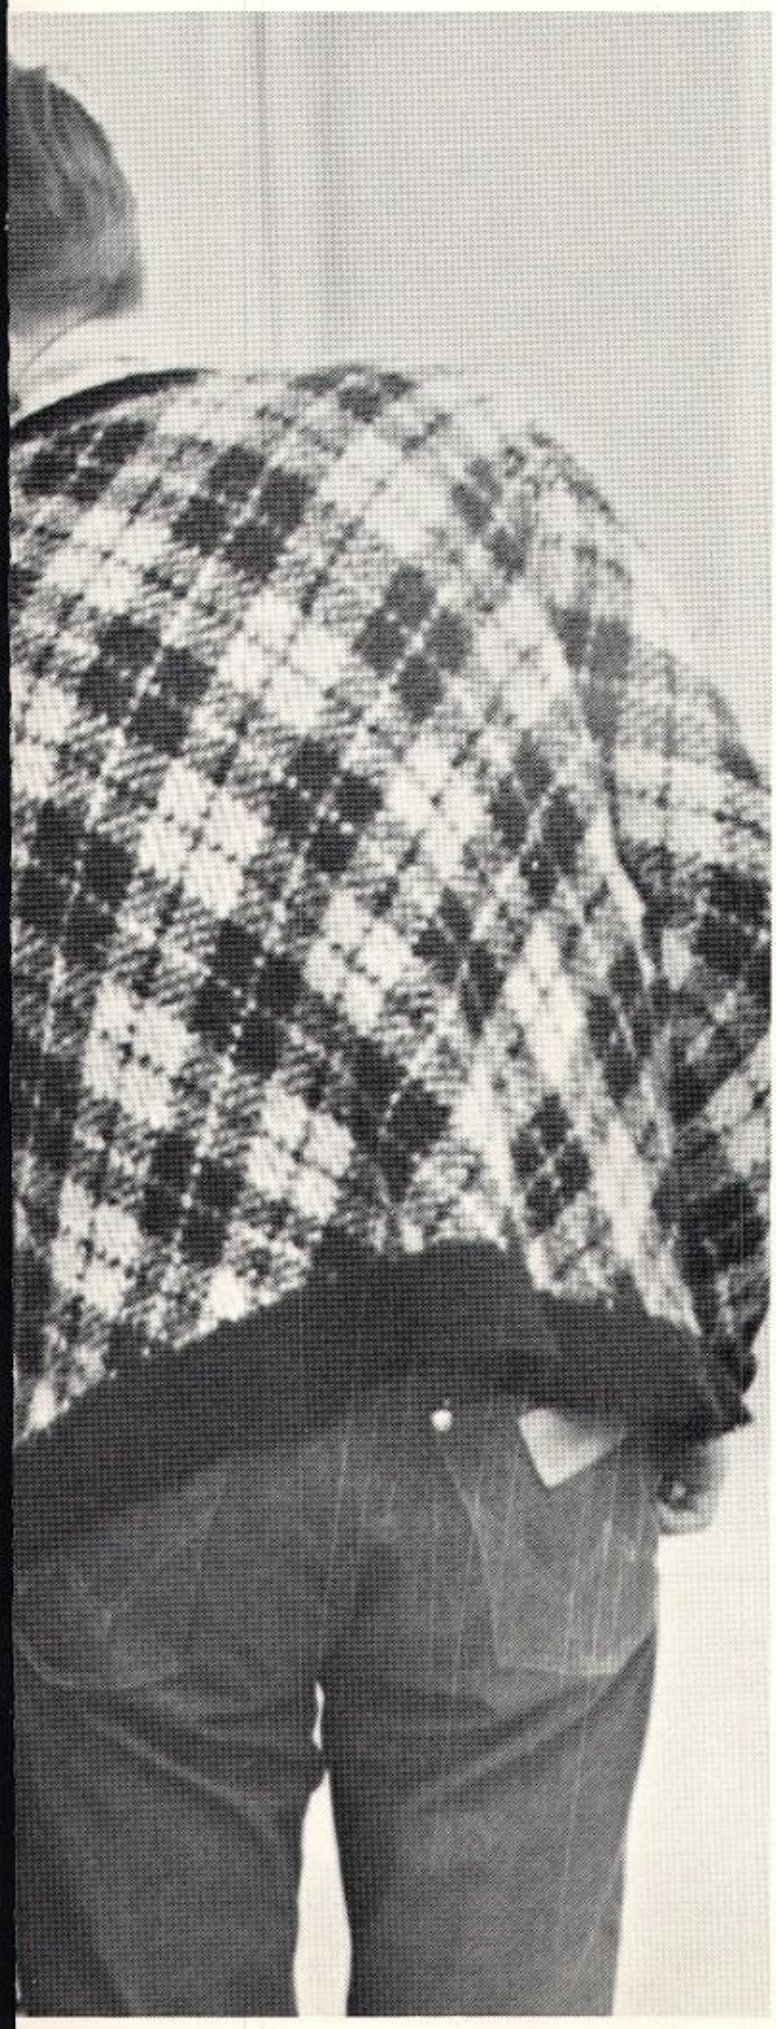
INTEGRITY

. . . To strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield . . .





Vocational

To strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield, are the goals of the Heath Vocational students. Students from all over the country attend Heath to prepare themselves to meet the challenges of the working world. They become skilled in any of the five subject areas offered, which are Cosmetology, Automotives, Drafting, Electronics, and Machine Shop. Upon graduation from high school, these students will contribute to the world what they have learned in the Heath Area Vocational School.

The officers for the VICA were: Martha Pletcher, Vice-President; Ron Clutter, Sergeant-at-Arms; Connie Coad, Secretary; Kathy Cass, News Reporter; Al Conner, National Vice-President; and Lee Miller, President.

Students who attend the Heath Area Vocational School have a great opportunity to meet fellow classmates when they join the V. I. C. A. --the Vocational Industrial Club of America. It has many activities in which the students can participate.

Some of these activities were: a spring and fall convention; hair styling contests for the Cosmetology girls; an open classroom on T. V., Channel 4; Easter Baskets for the Mental Health Association.

The Drafting department represented the V. I. C. A. at the Ohio State Fair in 1965 and two girls, Martha Pletcher and Linda Untied, went to the convention in Arkansas to run for national offices.

The outstanding project of the year was a candy sale--the V. I. C. A. sold 3,060 boxes of candy.

Al Connor served as National Vice-President of the V. I. C. A.

Electricity and Electronics are fields expanding faster than other branches of industry. The seniors study electrical circuits, electrical components, applications in radio, TV, and industrial control equipment. The classroom study complements the shop work as the students study the necessary algebra and trigonometry and science principles relative to their field. Electricity and electronics offer many opportunities for employment.

Electronics — Juniors

Junior Electronics students learn electricity starting with the most simple electrical experiments. Their study in this field includes appliance repair, motor controls, the winding of motors and generators, blueprint reading, and residential wiring. The students also learn the proper use of test equipment.

Machine Shop — Seniors

The Senior Machine Shop students work on a production basis to develop speed and accuracy in making parts and to make interchange of parts possible. The students also learn to use more complicated machinery. Related technology includes discussions of machine safety, shop drawing, shop mathematics, social adjustment when securing a job, and an advanced study of mathematics.

Machine Shop — Juniors

Machine Shop students are given training in shop management. They also learn the care, use, and responsibility in using hand and power tools. They are taught the safety and hazards of the machines as well as the theory and operation by actual experience. They operate each machine and make items, parts, and complete jobs as a machinist does in industry. Related subjects include geometry, trigonometry, and blueprint reading.

Advertisers

Dozens of flickering neon signs in a world of bright electric dreams — this is the world of advertising in its physical form.

Patronizing merchants and businessmen from the Heath vicinity choose to advertise in our yearbook, and thus enable us to produce a consistently larger book each year.

Just as Ulysses refused to pause in his untiring pursuit of activity, we are reminded of business' unending venture to improve the American way of life.

It is through the help of their many efforts that we now enjoy the greatest prosperity known to any nation at any time.

We at Pheils Associates would like to take this opportunity to acquaint you with ourselves, our services and our goals in serving you.

First, we decided to both develop a planned community and build homes in Newark, Ohio, because we felt there was a real need for well-designed, eye-appealing homes at a price the average person can afford.

To accomplish our first objective, we designed a total community for 250 homes, a country club comprised of a 9 hole golf course, club house, pool and 2 community parks.

To accomplish our second objective, we do not offer a "Set of Homes" from which you have to choose but offer you a custom design service at no additional cost. Some of our customers do prefer a duplication of a home we have already designed but most prefer to take advantage of our customer design service to arrive at a home that is custom tailored to their needs.

We hope you will allow us to be a part of your dreams for a new home and to share the adventure of making that dream come true.

Editors Page

This year's ERICA carries with it some of our greatest Heath High School experiences and as editor of the 1966 ERICA, I would like to thank all of those people who have devoted so much time and effort in making the book a big success.

Steve Helms, business manager, did an excellent job keeping books and records; Doug Franga, advertising manager, the ad team and especially Group #1 sold more ads than ever before; Gary Montgomery and the subscription team did a fine job in selling our yearbook.

A special thanks goes to the literary staff who actually put the book together to make it Heath High School's best.

All of this, of course, could not have been done without the direction and guidance of our advisor, Mrs. Braig.

I have enjoyed being a part of this year's ERICA and I hope that the book brings you pleasant memories of the 1965-1966 school year at Heath High School.

The Editor

Catherine Lees, Editor, and Mrs. Braig, Advisor, discuss final plans for the ERICA.
